

I strongly oppose the FCC Fax Ban which would prevent companies from faxing promotional information to existing customers. The cost of doing business has become so expensive that it is becoming cost prohibitive to promote small company products and services, even to our existing customer base!